A ROUND OF TALK.*Farmstead Lights

By Will T. Hale.

What to me this hollow brilliance that my eyes now nightly greet,
Nearth the lamps like fallen meteors lodged above the city street?
As I stroll among the scenes to which ambition lately led,
All their novelty is vanished—and I yearn for what is dead.

For my thoughts are reminiscent, and as carrier pigeons fly
From the present's garish evenings to the evenings long gone by.
I imagine my returning from the fields thrilled with the joys
And the hopes that somehow weakened when no longer we are boys.
I am harking to the whispers of the twilight woods again:
Can I hear the town's shrill quaver that presages coming rain?
While away through dogwood blossoms spreading white as ocean foam
Now ebb, now flow, now quite unseen—gleam the farmstead lights at home.

As I pass the brooding meadow there's a tiny murmuring—
And I know that every faithful there awaits the eave-fall spring:
As I lift its sparkling waters in the hollow of my palm,
Why, my spirit, too, is freshened—feels its former peace and calm;
Then, as though some heavenly censer spilled its sweetness from on high,
Lo, the orders of the orchard, as in evenings long gone by.

But how dear among the pictures that present themselves to sight,
Is especially the window, glimmering a rose of light,
Where with busy needle flashing o'er her darling baby's head,
Mother lingers for the lad that trudges whistling up the road.

Scarcely dreaming that for her sake
In the weary years to come
He would prize above all memories
The farmstead lights at home.

TELEPHONE—As we remarked in these columns last week, in speaking of the movement to improve the telephone system of our county, those citizens who have taken the matter up and are working for the improvement are to be commended for the enterprise, but at the same time they, and especially the city officials, should exercise great care in the matter of granting concessions and making contracts. As the matter now stands the Cumberland Telephone Co., has no franchise in the town but is operating simply under a permit or contract. Neither has the telephone company any right of way over the public roads of the county. Before agreeing to extend the lines and improve the service the telephone people are asking these concessions of the town and of the county. It would be unreasonable to expect any telephone company to go to the expense of putting in new lines and improving and extending the service without being protected by legally granted privileges. Both the county and town authorities are inclined to encourage the enterprise realizing as they do the value to the business of a community of a good telephone system. The officials very properly wish to thoroughly investigate the matter, however, before making any contract or granting any privileges. The city council is now considering a contract with the telephone people whereby it will be seen that the interest of the town and the patrons of the telephone through-out the town and county will be protected. A sale of franchise will have to be advertised and the telephone company will be given an opportunity to bid for it. Nothing should be done hastily or without due consideration in this important matter.

THE DANGER—The greatest danger which threatens the price of tobacco for the coming season, not excepting the much abused Trust, is overproduction. It is also something that it is almost impossible to control for nothing short of unfavorable weather conditions and low prices has yet been known to have any effect. You may argue with ye farmer and he will agree with you that it is unwise to plant such a big crop and glut the market and that under such circumstances it is unreasonable to expect good prices. He will agree with you and he prescribes the same doctrine, but when it comes to practice he will expect his neighbor to put in the small crop. He will go ahead and quietly put out a few more acres of plants, thinking to reap the advantage of the decrease in acreage and consequent high prices which his neighbor is expected to bring about. The failing is but a weakness in human nature and is hard to correct. The greatest danger in this overplanting however is that the growers are tempted to plant more tobacco than they can successfully cultivate. If every man would put out just such an amount as he may cultivate well enough that he will be sure of a good quality all would be well, but what hurts the tobacco market is to have it gutted with lot of poor grade tobacco. Large quantities of extra good tobacco will not cause a low market. It is poor quality which plays the mischief with the market. If every tobacco grower would be careful and be sure that he has hands enough and barn-room enough to thoroughly cultivate and take care of all the tobacco he plants so as to produce a good article, the danger from overproduction would be robbed of its terrors.

The Campbellsville and Bethel churches were granted permission to extend a call to Rev. S. P. Hawes for his services as pastor for these two churches. Wednesday morning Presbytery in a body visited the Buchanan College Institute, and at night the services were in the interest of Sabbath Schools, when excellent addresses were made by Drs. E. M. Greene, A. S. Moffett and Rev. Simpson, Cleland and Glass. The Sessional Reports show that the churches in the Presbytery are in good condition and growing. Harrodsburg was chosen as the place of the next meeting.—Taylor County Equine.

Sad Plight

The sad plight of an unfortunate girl came to light yesterday afternoon when a colored woman told Officers Britton and Herron that, if they would investigate, they could probably unravel a deep mystery at the home of Mary Dean on Chiles Street, one block from Main. Being pressed by the officers for explanation she said that last Sunday she heard the cries of an infant in Mary Dean's home. This so aroused her curiosity that she watched her, and on Wednesday afternoon when Mary left the house temporarily she slipped in, went up stairs and discovered a dead baby in one of the rooms. The two hours immediately following Judge Corn for a hearing and then all three went to the Dean home. After several vigorous knocks they were admitted and found a rather pretty woman, lying on a bed, and suffering much pain. Mary was asked if there was a baby in the house and she answered that there was a child up stairs. The three officers repaired to the upper floor and there a most horrifying spectacle met their gaze, for they found a dead baby-boy of large size, lying on the top of an old bureau, with a dirty rag spread over its face. The rag was removed, showing an ugly bruise on the head of the little one. Mary stated that the woman came to her home some weeks ago, and that the child was born dead last Sunday and had been placed on the bureau, where it had remained for the four days. The woman gave her name as Stella Royce; that she was 19 years of age and an orphan, and that her home was in Jessamine county, and that a man named Ross was the father of her child. Coroner Gibbs was notified and retained the remains over to Undertaker Stagg. A jury will be impeached to-day and the matter will be sifted to the bottom.—Harrodsburg Herald.

Making Improvements.

The Lebanon, Louisville & Lexington Telephone Company is reconstructing its plant in this city and, in a great many respects improving it. New poles forty-five feet in length, have been placed on Main Street west of Depot Street, and fifty foot poles are to replace the present ones on Spalding Ave. The poles on Main Street in the business part of town are being straightened, and the wires all over the city are being tightened. The work is in charge of Mr. T. R. Bright.

The report circulated that the work is being done with a view of changing the location of the exchange is an error.—Enterprise.

Louisville Races.*The Kentucky Derby, May 10

The Kentucky Oaks, Clark Handicap, Nursery and Seven Other Stakes, Sleep-chasing a Feature

The Spring Meeting at Louisville, opening Derby Day, May 10, has drawn more horses than in former years. Ever available stall in and outside of the grounds is occupied. All of the big stables in the West are represented, either in whole or with part of their strings, it being impossible to provide for all.

The Derby, oldest classic in America, has as almost sure starters Arley, winner of the Tennessee Derby; Rums Horn, winner of the Montgomery handicap, beating aged horses with his weight up; Dr. Leggo, the best three-year-old on the coast, winner of the Asot and California Derbies; Ivan the Terrible, Kutzman, Sheridan and Freebooter, nine others have made the final payment and their owners' expectations are based on improvement over last year's form. In the Kentucky Oaks, twenty-one fillies qualified, with possible starters in Intense, La Dondie, Angella, Druid, Sageta, Lady Goodrich, Mum, Regale, Lady Elision, Mario Frances and Bashford Belle. The Clark Handicap has continued to hold the same high class horses, the majority of whom are at the track. Steeplechases will be given every other day, the Louisville Steeplechase being among those run.

A ROAD SUPERVISOR

The Fiscal Court Elects George T. Clements Road Supervisor After a Close Contest

After being in session for two days during which time they appeared to be hopelessly deadlocked the Washington Board of Magistrates finally succeeded in electing a Road Supervisor in the person of Mr. George T. Clements. There were several candidates in the field and Mr. Clements won after an up hill fight. The Fiscal Court met on Thursday and after some other business was disposed of proceeded to the election of Supervisor. Mr. P. S. Barber was nominated and received three votes as follows: Squires John H. Gordon, James Mudd and James Devine. Other votes were for J. J. Sharpe, Squire Kirby, for James Janes, Squire Polin and for Geo. T. Clements John W. Gordon. Quite a number of ballots were taken during the day and the dead-lock remained unbroken. The court adjourned until Friday when it met again to consider the election as well as other matters. The meantime some wire pulling had been going on and it was finally decided to join forces against the three magistrates who were holding out for Barber and George T. Clements was agreed on. When the ballot was called Friday afternoon Barber still held his three votes but the remaining three members voted for Clements. This left the vote a tie between two candidates and County Judge Litsay was called on for the deciding vote which he cast for Clements and that gentleman was declared a winner.

It is required that the Supervisor employ an assistant to be paid out of the salary of $750 a year and F. J. Sharpe one of the contestants was recommended by the court as assistant and he will be named by Mr. Clements. The selection of Road Supervisor will doubtless give general satisfaction. Mr. Clements is well qualified to make a good official. He has had several years' experience in practical turnpike building and is a conscientious well-awake business man. Mr. Sharpe is a capable man for the position of assistant. He lives at Willisburg and will probably be assigned to look after the roads in that end of the county. The system of caring for the roads under a Supervisor is a new experiment in this county and it is hoped to get better results than from any of the old plans all of which have proven failures. The job is no sinecure and the Supervisor who does his full duty must be up and doing early and late.

Among other business transacted by the court was that of making a provisional appropriation for a new bridge across Little Beech at what is known as Sales Ford. The appropriation is on condition that the appropriation of $3,150 made some time ago as Washington county's share of the expense of the proposed bridge at Maud is not used. There appears to be a hitch in the building of the Maud bridge coming from the Nelson end of the business, and in case Washington county's money is not used at that place the Fiscal Court has allowed the amount to be applied to the other point.

A request was made to the court to allow the Washington County Telephone Co. otherwise the Cumberland, to have the right to erect poles and stretch lines along the public roads of the county. After some discussion the matter of granting this privilege was deferred until a contract or agreement could be arranged with the Telephone Co., about the putting in and maintaining certain exchanges in the county. The Fiscal Court is inclined to wait the action of the City Council of Springfield and be governed by their action in the matter.

The War.

The French Government has been officially informed that Admiral Rojestvensky's squadron has left Kamranh Bay. The departure was accelerated by an order from the Russian Emperor directing that the neutrality of France be respected. Russian steamships which have been ordered to depart by the French Government. A cablegram from Manila says that the Japanese Consul there has been advised that Admiral Togo's main squadron will assemble south of Formosa. The Russian Admiralty still professes ignorance as to whether neutrality was violated by Rojestvensky's long stay in Kamranh Bay, but the belief is expressed that no serious complications will follow the reports sentations made to France by Japan.—News Note

CATARHIAL TROUBLES PREVALENT.

Spring Months Cause Catarrh of the Bladder, Uterus and Rectum.

Catarrhal troubles are more common at this season than any other time of the year. The sudden changes that come during the spring months are productive of many cases of catarrh that "without proper treatment" will become chronic.

The pleasantest, most convenient, and only scientific method for the treatment and cure of catarrh, is Hyomei. Simply put twenty drops in the little pocket inhaler that comes with every outfit, and then breathe it for three minutes four times a day.

The complete Hyomei outfit costs but one dollar, and as the inhaler will last a life-time and there is sufficient Hyomei for several weeks' treatment, it is the most economical catarrhal remedy known. Extra bottles can be reduced for fifty cents. Ask the Red Cross Drug store to show you the strong guarantee under which they sell Hyomei.

Big Sale of Cattle.

Four hundred and seventy head of cattle belonging to Fox Sanders & Co. were sold during the past week to Charles Burns of Louisville, who represented eastern parties. The price paid was 54 cents, the highest that has been paid here since 1901. The cattle have been on sale at Mueller, Fathen & Kobert's distillery for several months past and are said by experts to be the finest stable of cattle in the State. They are to be delivered May 1st.

The sale aggregated upwards of $250,000.—Lebanon Enterprise.

OF LOCAL INTEREST

THURMAN—A writer in the Green County Record throws the boquets at Judge J. H. Thurman as follows: "Judge Thurman has already given evidence to the fact that everybody must obey the process of his court and the man who avoids the officer armed with a subpoena for his appearance before the court or grand jury is as guilty as if he refused to obey when summoned. The fact is, Judge Thurman is making a good Judge and the people who are interested in morality, decency and decorum, are very loud in their praise of him, and the course he is pursuing. There was a time in this State when none but the upright, law abiding sober man donned the judicial ermine and the people hail with delight a return of these primitive ideas. Another thing Judge Thurman holds the scale of justice equally poised and hews to the line, also giving great emphasis to the fact that he has no pets or favorites among the lawyers or citizens. There has been a time in some districts when attorneys have been employed on account of the pull they had with the Judge, and not on account of their legal ability. "All lawyers look alike to Thurman," and with that as a guarantee the lawyer now takes pleasure in preparing his case, knowing that it will be tried according to the law and the testimony.

TO BE INVESTIGATED—There is still considerable feeling in the Maud and Mooreville neighborhood over the alleged ill treatment of old man "Tinner" Smith, whose death was reported in last week's NEWS LEADER, and there is talk of an investigation. The old fellow died of pneumonia and it is thought that the beating which he is said to have received at the hands of some miscreants of the neighborhood two weeks before he died probably had nothing to do with the old man's death, but still the good people of the neighborhood feel outraged that such a disgraceful affair should have occurred. The suspected men are well known and have been openly accused of taking part in the affair but they deny any hand in it. A negro who is thought to be one of the participants is said to have left the country. "The matter will be investigated" said a prominent citizen of the neighborhood to the News-Leader man the other day "and it is possible the men guilty of abusing the old man will be punished. The good man will be punished. The good citizens of the Maud community are indignant and were the poor stronger against the suspected parties they might be severely dealt with."

NARROW ESCAPE—Coleman Settles had a narrow escape from serious danger Saturday night while returning from the singing at Mr. Shields, near Hillsboro, his horse became startled and ran off of the bridge, opposite Clem Cutsinger's, throwing Mr. Settles about 15 feet over his horse's head. His arm and hand were badly bruised and it will be some time before he can use it. His horse that went off over the abutment into Mr. Shields field escaped without being hurt. It is astonishing how he came out so well after passing through such a dangerous trial.

WEDDING—The marriage of Mrs. Carrie Campbell, of Louisville, and Mr. (Stolle) Porter, of Bloomfield, is announced to take place next Wednesday. Mrs. Campbell is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Settle, of Maud. Mr. Porter is a well known business man of Bloomfield.—Standard.

Mrs. Campbell is the widow of the late Robert Campbell of this place.

Child's Death.
Kidney trouble often ends fatally, but by choosing the right medicine, E. H. Wolf, of Bear Grove, Iowa, chestnut chest, says: "Two years ago I had kidney trouble, which caused a great pain, suffering and anxiety, but I took Electric Burets, which effected a complete cure. I have also found them of great benefit in general debility and nerve trouble, and keep them constantly on hand, as I find them have no equal." G. J. Hayden, Druggist, guarantees them at 50c.

DEBATE—A joint debate has been arranged between two young men pupils of the Springfield Graded School and an equal number of students of Prof. E. E. It will take place at the Springfield Opera House on the evening of May 23, and the question to be settled is: "Resolved—That

THURSDAY, APRIL 27, 1905

The following is the latest bulletin from the war in the far East: A Russian cruiser, a battleship and four transport ships are said to be still near Kamranh Bay. Advice received at Saigon says that twenty Japanese warships passed the bay on the evening of April 23. Two ships loaded with rice, and bound for Japan, are said to have been captured by the Russian cruisers. A report to the effect that the major part of Admiral Togo's squadron was at Masampou on April 20 has reached Cee Eoo from Korea. The Admiralty at St. Petersburg doubts the reliability of reports concerning the vessels of the hostile fleet and does not believe any great or decisive sea fight is immediately imminent. The idea is that Togo will defer decisive effort until he has made every effort to cripple the Russian fleet by torpedo attacks.

The Democratic primary for the nomination of candidates for next November's election in Louisville and Jefferson county took place Tuesday. About 19,000 votes were cast in the entire county. General interest centered in the race for County Judge, County Assessor, City Auditor and City Clerk. Judge Charles A. Wilson ran a remarkable race, winning over J. J. Fitzgerald, magistrate. John M. Adams won over P. S. Ray for County Assessor; Lyne Herndon won over Charles Neumeyer for City Auditor, and J. A. Oldham received the nomination for Clerk of City Court over Robert Gray.

A dispatch from Lexington says that a new Hargis took the stand in his own behalf and denied all connection with the killing of James Cockrill, Town Marshall of Jackson. He made a sweeping denial of statements made by Moses Feltner, Felix Feltner and other witnesses for the prosecution. Why certainly. Under the circumstances the wily Judge could hardly be expected to act otherwise.

Joseph Jefferson, the grand old man of the American stage whose portrayal of the character of Rip Van Winkle has amused multitudes, died at his home in Florida and the curtain is rung down on the life of a man whose memory will be cherished until many of the youths who have been made to laugh and cry by his acting have grown old in years.

Some one a few days ago in order to have some fun caught a rat in a steel trap and put it in Prof. J. T. Prather's mail box and when the genial professor went down to his box to get his mail and on opening the box the rat jumped out in his face and gave him such a shock that it was some time before he fully recovered. He is at a loss to know who played the joke, but one thing sure he will cleverly play it back if he can find out who is the one that is guilty of getting such a good joke on him.

Despite the cold weather all crops are in good condition and promising and the farmers are well up with their work. Most of the corn will be planted this week as every one seems ready to begin Monday. Wheat is very promising and bids fair to yield a much better crop than last year. There is no report of the Hessian yet. There are some fears about the fruit on account of the frost and freezing weather of the past week. The peach trees are regarded as a failure but the apple crop may yet be safe.

Our correspondent made a mistake last week, saying that a number of our citizens had attended the funeral of a young man who had been killed in a recent battle when people read the news paper and are posted on events that happen in our state. We hope this mistake will never occur any more.

We regret very much to say that Mr. Edd Sutherland has moved his family to Harrodsburg. They took their departure last Sunday evening with regrets from their friends and neighbors. ## CHAPTER I.

THE end of October had been a month of unusually fine weather, and the autumnal tinge of the leaves was following the good example set by the sun. In the home park, the only part of the extensive grounds surrounding Hampton Court palace that was well wooded, the leaves had not yet fallen, and the turf was green and soft, as yet unsoftened by autumnal rain.

Along one of the forest lanes there walked a distinguished party, dressed in the latest fashion, and proceeding slowly, for the pace was set by a disease-stricken man whose progress was of painful deliberation. He was tall and thin, with a high forehead, and his eyes were deep-set. He wore a dark suit, and his hands were thin and bony. He was the Earl of Stratford, and he was walking with a young man, who was his nephew, and a young woman, who was his daughter. The young man was the Earl's only son, and the young woman was his only daughter. They were walking towards the home park, and the Earl was talking to them about the state of the country.

Thomas Wentworth, Earl of Stratford, was accompanied by an imposing train. On either side of him, accompanying him along the path, were a number of the highest in the land, who were waiting on his words and taking a deference more obsequious than that which they might have distinguished the king himself, for all knew that this shattered frame was more to be dreaded than the most powerful of the nation. He was the Earl of Stratford, and he was walking with a young man, who was his nephew, and a young woman, who was his daughter. The young man was the Earl's only son, and the young woman was his only daughter. They were walking towards the home park, and the Earl was talking to them about the state of the country.

Among those now in his company was young De Courcy, one of the numerous band of French nobles, who were the Earl's friends. He was a young man, and he was walking with a young woman, who was his daughter. The young man was the Earl's only son, and the young woman was his only daughter. They were walking towards the home park, and the Earl was talking to them about the state of the country.

Courtesy had a ready reason for every action, and they attributed Stratford's forbearance to the influence of the Countess. She was a young woman, and she was walking with a young man, who was her husband. The young man was the Earl's only son, and the young woman was his only daughter. They were walking towards the home park, and the Earl was talking to them about the state of the country.

Scott's Emulsion is just such a remedy. It has wonderful healing and nourishing power. Removes the cause of the cough and the whole system is given new strength and vigor.

SCOTT'S EMULSION, Chemist, 89-91 First Street, New York.

"You look then, you look then, but it's over your own shoulders the cord should go had I the ordering, though, of the pack."

"Madam," said the Earl of Stratford sternly, "I would have you know that none gives orders here but me."

"But you are not the king's father," said the Earl of Stratford sternly, "I would have you know that none gives orders here but me."

Ed Russell the jeweler has in his store quite a relic in the shape of an old fishing reel. It is made of copper and evidently made by hand. It is rather a curious affair but shows the effect of a good deal of skill in workmanship. The reel belongs to Charlie Noe who says it was given to him by old man Reed who found it on Little Beach
some one hundred years ago.

It is strange how so many people will be taken in by peddlers.
A couple of spectacle peddlers worked the town and county recently and did a land office business selling brass spectacles for gold and other such stunts.
They were finally warned to leave town or to be arrested for operating without a license—and they left, but not until they had taken in several dollars of good money.
